NASH BROTHERS
CONSTRUCTION CO., INC.
120 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

Congratulations

Nash Brothers congratulates Mr. Edward Finnegan, Key Manager—Exelon Construction Services, for being awarded as one of the “Outstanding Buying/Contracting Executives” of 2017 by the Minority Business Enterprise Input Committee of the Chicago Minority Supplier Development Council, Inc. Mr. Finnegan is recognized in corporate America as an individual who has demonstrated an extraordinary commitment to expanding corporate purchasing from minority companies.

Mr. Finnegan was nominated for this award by Christopher Nash, President of Nash Brothers.

Nash Brothers Creates New Training Facility

Nash Brothers is creating a newly designed training facility. We are pleased to be able to provide this space dedicated to training. Our safety goals are to provide our valued employees with the most current safety and health tools, to provide current information, and to provide training that will enable employees to recognize hazards and to complete tasks without injury.

Employee of the Month

Joe Chavez

Joe Chavez, Senior Foreman, has been an important member of the Nash Brothers community for 29 years. Joe is known for his exceptional work ethic and leadership skills. Jim Gregory, Senior Project Manager, describes Joe as efficient, hard working, and without complaint.

Joe explained the challenges of his job. “It is my responsibility to make sure that the crew members remain safe and that the work is completed in the best way—the most organized way.” Joe added, “My work has provided a good living. I have supported a family, raised three children.” When asked about his hobbies, Joe replied, “My children. My hobbies are my three children.”

Thank you, Joe, for the years you have spent with Nash Brothers. Your hard work has assisted with the success Nash Brothers has achieved in the field.
